

We Can Start Over, We Know Forgiveness.

Less like math, less like a deal.*

*More like a heartbreak beginning to heal,
We can start over, we know forgiveness.”

It’s a new calendar year; we celebrated a new liturgical year the first Sunday of Advent; we will celebrate a new fiscal year sometime this summer, (August 1?) What a privilege to be able to begin again, especially as we begin again with this experience, knowledge and promise of forgiveness, made real for us in the life, death & resurrection of the babe of Bethlehem, Jesus Immanuel, God with us.

Whether or not you make resolutions, the opportunity to begin again means that we don’t have to stop growing, learning, changing, or fixing what’s broken. We don’t have to look far in our lives or world to see what isn’t working for babies being born in Bethlehem now, or the person in the next room we are really angry with.

But for me, the promise that, because of God’s love for us lived out in Jesus, that’s never the last word, is perhaps the spiritual treasure I hold most precious. I count on it when I submit a newsletter article at the last minute, when I say something indelicate or unkind, when I fail to do the good I could do because I’m hanging out on Facebook.

The song quoted on this page is one of my favorites and was written by musician & producer Jonathan Rundman. The power in it for me was brought home about a year ago when a friend I was really unhappy with used those lines to remind me that because of Jesus, the challenges in our relationship did not signal it’s end, but we had hope for a new day, a new way. In Christ, we always do. May your new year include that awareness lived out, heard deep, richly blessing.

In God’s grasp, as y’all are,
Pr. Mary Kaye

COUNCIL CORNER

Welcome to 2015! We begin the new year with hope, optimism and faith in the knowledge that our mission in the community will continue to thrive. The Council retreat was held in early December and Goals for 2015 were developed. These goals include the development of a Stewardship Plan and Committee in January/February and we will be seeking volunteers to serve on this committee; new member classes are scheduled quarterly or as needed; new Council member orientation to be implemented, following the August Congregational meeting; and scheduling a company to develop a new church directory.

The Council will also make final updates to the church's constitution in January and will be presenting those changes to the congregation in late February/early March. The Memorial Committee, led by Chairman Duane Olson, has reviewed the memorial committee By-Laws and will be preparing a "wish list" to provide guidance for future donors. Duane Olson and Bruce Carlsted are reviewing the Church's Archive files and documents, how they are stored, and what documents need to be protected and archived.

The youth program needs adult leaders to teach and mentor our youth and we invite you to consider giving your time to this important mission area. Pastor Mary Kaye, Michelle Lynch, and I will be attending the one-day annual youth leadership training in January in Brooklyn Park. Thank you for your continued love and support in the New Year.

Blessings,
Don

SAMARITAN FUND - UPDATE

The Samaritan Fund is alive and well at this writing. We didn't have a Giving Tree this year because of the press of other business, but heard from the elementary school principal that there were several needy families that lacked resources to provide Christmas for their members. So we purchased $500 in gas cards and gift certificates for five families. Last month we joined with the local ministerium and other churches to provide aid for a family emergency involving household pests.

We believe we are doing the Lord's work, and now have ten members. We are talking of more involvement in the local community, and of an increasing voice of advocacy to address the issues lying behind poverty and destitution. Please pray for us and support the Fund as you are able.

Greetings from Luther Point

January 2015

Camp has been overflowing with retreat guests these past few weekends.

Things start to quiet down over the Christmas holiday before we host our annual reunion of 2014 summer camp counselors and “Buddies” just in time to welcome the new year. As always, we anticipate many of our fine counselors will again return in 2015 as positive Christian role models and mentors for your children at Luther Point.

Some would joke, “But with boots that large, you don’t need skis.”

I am excited that my “almost” impossible dream to find size 17 cross-country ski boots ended with their arrival in the store this week. My old boots which were custom made in Norway had finally worn out after years of hard use. I knew it wouldn’t be easy, but never imagined it would take a virtual “quest” over several years to locate a pair. Now I feel really ready to get out and enjoy winter and explore trails near camp.

New Offering – Family Winter Weekend of Fun – February 13 – 15 (President’s Day/ Valentines Day). Does winter and the post-holiday season got you feeling a bit stir crazy as you approach the long weekend (no school for many districts on Monday)? I want to personally extend an invitation for families of all shapes and sizes to join me and my family at Luther Point Bible Camp for this fun-filled weekend retreat. Past staff will be on hand to provide hospitality and lead structured activities. There will also be free time options that include tubing, broom ball, camp games, and an ice-fishing demonstration. A magician will also be on hand to provide entertainment with a theological twist. For the first time we will also be offering an optional sleigh ride (for an additional fee to cover our costs). I plan to break-in my new ski boots and explore our outpost trail across the road through woods and prairie.

Prepare to be pampered. Child-care will be available during free time. Accommodations include our comfortable Retreat Center and toasty warm cabins by the lakeshore. Each family will have their own space, including their own bathroom and shower. All inclusive delicious meals will be served in our dining hall. Please visit www.lutherpoint.org for a schedule, pricing and additional details. Plan on booking an additional overnight to take advantage of the extended weekend if your kids are off from school and explore the sights and sounds of the great North woods. Please contact our office and request confidential financial assistance if you need it!
